

Institute for Life Coach Training Application Form—Foundational Coach Training

Application Process

The Institute for Life Coach Training is a program designed especially for those in the human services industries (therapists, psychologists, counselors, R.N.s, psychiatrists, M.D.s, other health care professionals, pastoral counselors, clergy, spiritual directors, educators, human resource professionals, etc.). This training will prepare attendees for professionally applying coaching skills and tools to clients, either within their current practice/business or developing a coaching business. All prospective students must complete an application prior to registering for our program.

Acceptance into the program is based on your educational background, life experience and work history. Applicants are expected to possess education, training, skills, and experience, preferably in the human services industries. Other applicants will be considered on an individual basis and the completeness of their application. Enrollment is limited in each class.

For those individuals whose education is not in a human services industry, you have questions about your eligibility for or you believe that your experience and training qualify you for this program, please request an interview with Marcie Thomas. You may contact her at Marcie@christian-living.com Please be as specific as possible and note the above requirements. Incomplete applications will not be considered may not be resubmitted.

You may complete the form below in several ways. You may download it in an Adobe Acrobat pdf format, print it out and fax it to the ILCT office, at 573-435-6011 or you may complete it in the Word format. If you would like to send a resume, you may either email it to Marcie@christian-living.com or fax it to the above number.
